The Way We Were

By Marceline Caristia

It was thirty-six years ago when I walked through that gate.

Little did I know I had sealed my own fate

For a sentence of life I was given that day
And many before me had gone the same way

Working at the aircraft I thought would be fun
I was so naïve so very, very young

What an education I was going to get
But it would be years before I realized that threat

Everyone was so helpful so friendly, so nice
How could I know I'd soon pay the price

It was so different way back at the start
Because all of us picked most every part

And you knew an inspector by the gold vest he wore
Now they blend in all over the floor

We had a program called "Ideas that Fly"
But that incentive has gone bye, bye

We used to get paid for those suggestions
Now we just use our ideas with discretion

And when you had reached an important milestone
They gave you a party before you went home

The old supervisors they had your back
The new ones here now are on the fast track

Now every few months we get a new pup
How can I tell? My paycheck's screwed up

And now we can't call a toolbox by name
It's a point of use station but it's really the same

If there's an injustice or something's not fair
Try not to seat it they really don't care

Everyone knows what PWA means
People walking around or so it seems.

If I knew then what I know now
I'd not change a thing, it worked out somehow
